New Hampshire Doctor Is Out on Bail, but Can't Practice

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 5 (AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander today pleaded innocent in a loud voice to an indictment charging first degree murder in the so-called mercy slaying of an incurable cancer patient.

The state agreed to his freedom pending trial under a continuance of his $25,000 bond with the stipulation that he refrain from medical practice until disposed of the case. Dr. Sander's attorney, Louis E. Wyman, said the stipulation about refraining from practice was over a protest of defense counsel because of the presumption of innocence at this time.

Bard Official Addresses Rotary on Aims of College

Dr. Osmund W. Robinson, president of the Kingston Rotary club, addressed the group of admissions at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., last night.

Dr. Robinson is acting president during a leave of absence which Dr. Edward C. Fuller, president, is enjoying. Dr. Fuller's leave is partial time due him as a delayed sabbatical from 1946.

Dr. Robinson in the brief time allotted outlined the Bard educational program which is unique among American institutions.

Dr. Robinson also sketched some of the difficulties besetting American educational institutions in a changing world. He mentioned several at present having a gigantic battle of their budgets, and suggested that financial stress is more temporary than the challenge of meeting altered social demands.

The college desires to provide for each student the educational experiences which will be of most value to him or her. To do this, the speaker said, it is necessary that the student be dealt with as an individual and that his previous experiences and his capacities, interests and ambitions be taken into consideration. The course of study is not a list of requirements to which all students must accommodate themselves. The curriculum of each student is tailored to fit the individual personality as the needs and possibilities become clear to teachers and students.

The procedures by which this individualized education is conducted in a wide variety of subjects in the liberal arts and sciences were explained by Dr. Robinson. It is expected that each student will get as broad a knowledge of the world we live in as the four years will permit. This knowledge is not set off in a separate compartment for some useful calling or avocation. One of the fundamental aims of this kind of teaching is to help the student find that field in which he can work most ably and through which he can make the greatest contribution to society. The major field becomes the center from which adventures into other fields radiate. Like an inverted pyramid, the broadening of the education progresses along with the specialization. To the purpose of becoming a journalist, scientist, economist, etc., is added the understanding of the need to become a person who knows his other people and their problems. The often separated aims of "progressive" and of "professional" or "vocational" education are brought into mutually helpful relation to each other.

An illustration of the cooperation of Bard in adult college, he told of the business forum which was conducted in Kingston by the College. This course of adult education has been adopted by many colleges throughout the country.

Further assistance and cooperation with the four-county area was offered by the acting president. Bard College, which is in its 90th year, was founded in 1860 as St. Stephen's College. The college, which emphasized the training of young men for the Episcopal ministry, more than 70 years offered a traditional liberal arts course. In 1928 it became affiliated with Columbia University to combine the advantages of a small college with those of a metropolitan university. In 1934, aware of changing methods of education, it revised its curriculum and program in accordance with the most modern ideals of individualized education. This step was signaled the following year by an act of the New York State Legislature changing the name to Bard College in honor of one of the founders, John Bard. In 1944, becoming independent of Columbia University, Bard extended its program to include young women as well as young men.

Present at the luncheon as a guest of the program chairman was Richard O. Gruver, a trustee of Bard College.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

While you are listening to, or reading, the President's messages to the Congress this week, ponder the following reports from Great Britain. They have a lesson for all of us. In another article, after time to digest Mr. Truman's reports and recommendations, we can discuss them from "contrary viewpoints."

The Ruminator has before him a most informative communication from an old friend, now resident in England, but formerly in business in this country. It is extremely timely to present to you a few sidelights on economic life in Great Britain at a moment when (from all reports) we are to be again subjected to recommendations for a welfare state. This friend of mine, by the way, is an Englishman, who formerly represented his important industry in America. His views, therefore, are those of a native and not those of an American visiting in Great Britain.

"In plain English," he asserts bluntly, "we are living like millionaires when as a nation we are 'broke.' So we roll on with our heads in the clouds so that we may not see the pitfalls at our feet. Therefore we can blissfully assume they are not there!"

In an attempt to make some of us understand how rough the going is over there, and how on the economic and political side they have been "riding on greased skids," he emphasizes a remark of Sir Stafford Cripps just prior to the devaluation. After (again) insisting there would be no devaluation, Sir Stafford said: "We have tried to overcome our difficulties by a series of expedients which led to a series of crises as each expedient became exhausted." (The Ruminator might break in to say that the devaluation program, too, is another economic expedient, as we are now learning.)

"We hope," my friend writes, "you will learn from our experience that the 'Welfare State' which we are setting up, and on which Truman seems determined, is directly contrary to human nature. Lincoln said that 'all men are created equal.' Our British Socialists say 'they must be kept equal.' Our gang's slogan is 'Fair shares for all' but the boys at the top interpret it to mean 'Equal shares for all which even Russia had to abandon years ago.' My correspondent brought out that there are squabbles within the trade unions themselves which are causing a great deal of concern. Here is a lack of control 'at the top' which has been illustrated in demands for wage increases by the rank and file of union members when the officials have stated they 'are foursquare behind the government in withholding wage demands.' Partly to blame, thinks my British friend, is the fact that with many industries nationalized, the members of unions have fewer 'Capitalist bosses' to fight—so 'they fight among themselves at the country's expense.' 'Union leaders in nationalized industries now find themselves in the curious and anomalous position of representation against their own creation—the Socialist State—hence their inability to maintain control. Figure that one out!"

He goes on to observe that when industries, such as steel, cement, sugar, etc., are doing unusually well under private enterprise the cry is "They are too important to the country's economy to be allowed to remain in private hands, so they MUST belong to the nation."

On the other hand, "industries which are not paying well also MUST be nationalized in the interest of the country. You can't win!"

Of the industries that have been nationalized—Coal, Railways, Airways, Gas, Electricity—he makes this observation: "In EVERY case costs to consumers have increased, and in the first two, quality has been reduced considerably." "When nationalization was insisted upon the argument was move off my land and less cost to consumers. Coal costs have gone up about 30 per cent; I should think and contains more slate. Railway timetables have failed to be reasonably maintained. Passenger fares and freight rates have been increased. Gas and electric rates are up largely because nationalized costs to gas and electric companies have been increased—so goes the vicious circle."

Then a very significant point is brought out, in his observations on the financial side of nationalization: "Of course, all these industries paid taxes and dividends in the past. Now there are none of these and in addition deficits must be paid out of (other) taxes." He then quotes a Mr. E. Davis, who, writing in the T.U.C. (Trades Union Council) magazine "Labour," remarks that "financial success is another fetish which needs exorcising. Socialist principles must not be sacrificed to financial probity." To which my friend replies—"What a theory, especially as even his pals recognize the country will go under unless we export heavily, and at competitive prices!"

This is about all that space allows, but in a future article I hope to bring you more of these same comments of a British businessman who is living through the welfare socialized state in Great Britain. Let me conclude with his studied comment that "the answer (to our troubles) is still PRODUCTION and still more PRODUCTION, as it was a year ago."

Esopus Children Requested to Give Toys for Europe

In cooperation with an American Legion movement throughout the nation, Town of Esopus Post, 1298, and its Ladies' Auxiliary are taking part in the "Tide of Toys" for children in war-stricken Europe, a project arranged to promote friendship between the children of America and the less fortunate little ones of Europe.

As in other communities of the nation, youngsters of the Town of Esopus are asked to contribute at least one good toy they received this Christmas to some little boy or girl in Europe, who perhaps, never owned a toy.

It is requested that gifts do not include war-like toys, and only sturdy toys which can stand the rigors of shipment be donated. This eliminates toy guns, electrically powered toys or fragile toys, such as delicate china dolls, etc. A note of greeting from the child giving the toy should be securely attached to each gift.

Toys contributed to the "Tide of Toys" campaign can be left at any of the following collection points conveniently located throughout the Town of Esopus: Connely post office, Esopus post office, town clerk, Post Ewen; Rifton post office, St. Remy post office, Ulster Park post office.

All gifts for the "Tide of Toys" should be turned in as soon as possible so that shipment to Europe can be made at an early date. The American Legion urges all the children of the Town of Esopus to participate in this manifestation of friendship toward the less fortunate children of Europe.

DEWEY'S EXPERIENCE

Governor Thomas E. Dewey has done his bit to clear the Republican political atmosphere by announcing he will not be a presidential candidate in 1952, 1956 or 1960. If he means what he says, the decision is a definite milestone both in national politics and in Dewey's personal history.

No aspirant for the job since the Democrats' William Jennings Bryan ever tried so hard or so often as did Dewey.

He began as a boy wonder, making his first bid for the G.O.P. nomination in 1940 when he was 38. He came amazingly close but lost to Wendell Willkie in hectic voting at convention time. Four years later he did get it. But although he polled 22,000,000 votes he bowed to Franklin D. Roosevelt in the election.

No defeated nominee ever had won a second Republican nomination. But Dewey broke that precedent in 1948. Everyone remembers how confident he and his party were of national victory. The surprise was great when President Truman upset all forecasts to beat Dewey by more than 2,000,000 votes.

Despite the bitterness of that reverse, many thought Dewey would try to match Bryan by gaining a third nomination. But he apparently has decided against that course.

Whatever the governor may or may not do on a lesser political scale, his statement on the presidency marks the end of an era for a man who has been prominent on the national scene for a dozen years.

There's no great mystery over why he didn't make the grade in 1940 and 1944. He was young, and considered inexperienced for the problems of the great war then raging. Besides, in 1944 he bucked one of the strongest political personalities of the country's history in F.D.R.

His 1948 failure was something else. It may have been partly a failure of personality, for Dewey does not fall easily into the role of the genial, hearty, bluff politician.

Most experts feel, however, that the 1948 outcome was more a failure of the G.O.P. to develop a program both distinctive from its Democratic counterpart and attractive to the voters.

If that's correct, then whoever takes Dewey's place in 1952 will suffer the same general handicaps unless the party can frame a powerful program.

Only the citizens of longest memories will recall that once the smoking of cigarettes was regarded as unmanly, and when cigarette smoking by women would have been inconceivable.

ATOMIC CAMPAIGN

Election day is a long way off, but the hot-stove forecasters are always with us. They now guess that Major General Leslie R. Groves, the former army head of atomic energy development, will run for senator from Connecticut on the Republican ticket. His Democratic opponent would presumably be Senator Brien McMahon, chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, who is expected to run for reelection.

Small imagination is needed to know the results of such a set-up. The atom bomb might become the central issue of a state senatorial campaign. This would be more surprising than many other results of the divided atom.

Probably this line-up will not take place. But its fascination for the arm-chair forecaster is understandable.

UNSUNG GENERAL

General Peyton C. March is 85, and is probably used to having his anniversary pass almost unnoticed by the American public. Yet he saved millions of American lives in World War I by his efficient work as chief of staff. By serving in Washington instead of in the field he missed the fame that went to Pershing, but he was equally deserving of the Distinguished Service Medal and the rank of full general that went to each.

Future historians will award to General George C. Marshall, the World War II chief of staff, equal or nearly equal glory to that

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE HALF-CENTURY YEAR

In 1900, nationalism was an unquestioned concept in American life. A man either was an American or a foreigner. Americans believed in the Constitution of the United States, the inviolability of its flag, that the United States was the greatest and grandest country on Earth. This was God's own country.

The people had only recently experienced the Spanish-American War, an imperialist effort indicating nationalistic maturity, and more enthusiasm was generated than during World War II. The return of Admiral Dewey stirred the enthusiasm of the whole American people.

Then came the various episodes in relation to the building of the Panama Canal which again gave to our people a wholesome sense of well-being.

Theodore Roosevelt was a Nationalist. He was of the very earth of America. His outlook on life was American, from his New York origin to his early manhood in the open plains of the west. His "Rough Riders" were more typical of American free-lancing than the best organized division of an army. And while he was regarded as a peace president and won a Nobel prize for his peaceful endeavors, he placed his country before all else—and said so. He may have reflected the mood of his times, but Teddy, as he was lovingly called, was no reflection; his nature was to push ahead.

Theodore Roosevelt had the advantage of having in his cabinet two of the last of our great secretaries of state, John Hay and Elihu Root. With the possible exception of Charles E. Hughes in the Harding and Coolidge administrations, subsequent Presidents were weakly served by their secretaries of state, and in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration that office degenerated into a repository of presidential whim ineptly serviced.

Peace movements in the early years of the Twentieth Century were designed principally for the establishment of international law as binding upon all countries and for some type of judicial determination of the problems arising among nations. The Hague tribunal was well regarded among nations. In Europe, there was a balance of power which held until the Agadir affair (1911) when it appeared as though the rising power of Germany might explode into war. The Nobel Peace Prizes stimulated interest in peace and there were many organizations among the people that fostered various concepts for better relations among nations.

However, peace movements did not lessen nationalistic sentiments, and although many European countries maintained in the United States "peace across-the-board" organizations, none of them accomplished more than long speeches on important occasions. The British were influential in the State Department but enjoyed no mass following and were not as favored as the French or the Germans; the latter, particularly in the Middle West, Americans of Irish origin were, of course, especially anti-British.

It was not until the advent of World War I that the concept of a more or less "one world" appeared in public opinion. The League to Enforce Peace, presided over by William Howard Taft, was undoubtedly a forerunner of the ideas of Woodrow Wilson for a League of Nations, a Parliament of States.

Woodrow Wilson was an intense Nationalist, who, while he sought a world body to curb war and the processes that lead to war, so thoroughly believed in the right of a people to govern themselves within the terms of their own national traditions that he made that the central concept of his Fourteen Points which gave World War I its goal and he actually helped to found a group of strongly nationalistic republicans in Europe.

Wilson's excesses kept this country out of the League of Nations and laid the foundation for World War II. It was in that war that the United States departed altogether from traditional nationalism. So complicated our world partnership became that it led to the vicious and damaging decisions at Toleran and Yalta, decisions secretly arrived at behind public opinion which were guided by actual falsehoods. World War II was conducted to minimize nationalism, even to minimize the importance of the United States as a nation. So general was this attitude that it was relayed to our troops by our government. In the United Nations, it was hoped that nationalism would be dissolved.

INSULIN TO QUIET ANXIETY PATIENTS

It is now more than 25 years since Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, which prevents death from diabetes. It would seem that ever since the discovery, not a year passes but some other use is being found for insulin.

The first shock treatments for mental ailments were given by insulin, then came mazaol and later electric shock treatment.

One of the outstanding symptoms in many mental cases is anxiety and anxiety which is treated by insulin shock has given excellent results. There are, however, many individuals suffering with anxiety symptoms whose physician do not find their symptoms severe enough to require insulin or other shock treatment. To allay or lessen their anxiety symptoms, which symptoms are spoiling the life of patient and family, giving just enough insulin to quiet the individual and reduce his fear complex is suggested by Dr. J. Martin in "Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease."

Dr. Martin treated 210 patients with anxiety neurosis with insulin. A control group of 170 similar cases who received no insulin were studied. Only the more easily observed symptoms of anxiety, such as tremulousness, restlessness, fear or apprehension, excessive perspiration, sleeplessness and loss of appetite, were considered in the study of the two groups. The 210 patients given insulin received an average of 55 units and the average number of treatments given each case was about 28, most patients receiving 30 and 40 treatments. As long as the patients improved on the 55 units, this dose was maintained and was stopped when improvement stopped. Besides the insulin treatment both groups were given the usual ward treatment for anxiety symptoms.

The group given the insulin showed the greatest amount of improvement. Patients less predisposed to nervousness and anxiety and those who had anxiety symptoms for the shortest time, responded best to insulin treatment.

Dr. Martin states that insulin is only a "part" of anxiety treatment but helps so much that outpatient clinics should be established so that patients could attend without need of special care.

The Reds Passed This Way

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — The world has read a lot of great Christmas stories, from Dickens' Christmas Carol to Heywood Brown's famous column, but this year we have a Christmas story of doing which ranks with any of them.

It's the story of veterans who have fought our wars, led by the American Legion, who don't want to fight any more wars and do want to build up friendship abroad. Recognizing that wars have come in cycles of about every 20 years, they have gone out to woo Europe's children of today—who can be our best friends or the enemy soldiers of tomorrow.

That's one factor behind the "Tide of Toys" campaign, by which American children who can spare an extra toy immediately after Christmas are urged to send it, via the American Legion, to two Europe's children of today—who can be our best friends or the enemy soldiers of tomorrow.

In Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the Legion used the French Merit Train "40 and 8" boxcar, sent to New York by the people of France, to collect toys. Poughkeepsie Legionnaires have already adopted the town of St. Lo, France, and all toys collected in the Poughkeepsie area will go to St. Lo. Special proclamations were issued by Governors Bowles of Connecticut, McMahon of Arkansas, Browning of Tennessee, Tuck of Virginia, urging support for the tide of toys.

Major Fletcher Bowron has decreed this week as "Tide of Toys" week, and Chairman Louis Goff of the Los Angeles area has fixed California's goal as "a million toys for a million boys."

Largest Legion post in the world is Omaha's No. 1, with 16,000 members. But Denver's Post No. 1, with 10,400 members and second largest in the world, proclaims it will outcollect Omaha...

Here is how Legionnaires and the public all over the country are pulling across the tide of toys: Gen. Lucius Clay's home town, Marietta, Ga., was one of the first to respond, through Commander John Roy, with a pledge of one boxcar of toys...

Emperor Hirohito's white horse is being used to collect toys in Nashville, where an admission fee of one toy is being charged to get in to see the famous steed.

Harry Warner of Warner Brothers, who so patriotically chaired the Friendship Train of friendship letters across the Atlantic.

Connecticut Battleground
Most significant political battle of 1950 will be fought in Connecticut, where the Republicans are lining up a glimmer team to oppose equally glamorous Democratic stars.

On the Republican side, Claire Boothe Luce, blonde authoress, ex-Congresswoman and wife of the Time-Life publisher, is being groomed to run for the Senate against Ewen McCardon, who has done a notable job as chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee. Mrs. Luce was an A-1 Congresswoman.

In Connecticut's second Senatorial election, Congressman John Lodge, brother of Massachusetts' Henry Cabot Lodge, will probably run against newly appointed Democratic Senator Bill Benton, advertising executive and former assistant secretary of state in charge of Voice of America.

And for governor, the Republicans are grooming the ex-Mayor of Hartford, William Mortenson, a popular vote getter, to run against Democratic governor Chester Bowles, former head of O.P.A. and a Democratic possibility for President or vice-president.

Two motives behind Republican determination to make Connecticut a testing ground in 1950. One is that they want to knock off the ex-O.P.A. chief, who has proved to be so right about price control. The G.O.P. doesn't want the ghost of high prices, but by Bowles, hunting them in 1952.

Second, however, with Connecticut in 1950, with the governor elected for four years for the first time instead of two, will probably control the state for sometime to come.

Merry-Go-Round

When Sherman Minton was a law student, one of his teachers was ex-President William Howard Taft, and after a heated discussion with Minton, Taft remarked: "Well, that's the law and the only way you will be able to change it is get on the Supreme Court." Minton is now there.

The Supreme Court has before it five cases involving the right to picket, of which perhaps the most important is that of John Hughes and Louis Richardson vs. the State of California. Hughes and Richardson picketed one of the Lucky stores in Richmond, in an attempt to induce them to hire Negro employees in proportion to the number of Negroes patronizing the store. The Supreme Court of California issued an injunction banning this picketing.

To get the proper background on picketing, the nine old men have gone back through medieval dictionaries to trace its history... Here is an indication of how concerned the American people are with peace: After Leon Pearson had Quaker Leader Clarence Pickett as guest on his television broadcast, he got almost as many requests for the Quaker booklet on U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations as another TV show, "Who Said That?" which staged a contest for a free TV set.

Tom Morgan, able head of Sperry Gyroscope, was sounded out on taking David Lilienthal's place as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He wasn't interested.

Electric Railway to Quit

Baltimore (AP)—One of the nation's oldest electric railways is gently giving up the ghost. For 69 years, the Baltimore and Annapolis railroad has shuttled between the two cities, about 25 miles apart. But the roadbed deteriorated, the rolling stock gradually became a leaking stock, with the newest passenger car a trilling 36 years old. Finally the Maryland Public Service Commission, which has wrestled long and anxiously with B. and A. problems (mostly financial) authorized it to abandon rail passenger service and switch to buses.

State of Union Message Shows Advisers Are in Capital Saddle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 5 — What President Truman read to Congress as the "State of the Union" message was not written by him but assembled by ghost writers from memoranda supplied by the cabinet and a group of political advisers. It is significant, of course, that any group of men should be able to write out that they think a President ought to say. But with the congressional elections coming next autumn, the political advisers are in the saddle and hence the entire message can be best understood if viewed as an attempt to guess the political temper of the people.

Naturally a President can't say the "State of the Union" is bad or that the world is confused, because the people might then politely ask why the administration, in its wisdom, hasn't made things better. So the outright claim is made that the "State of the Union" is good, that recession's threats have been met, that communism has failed to subvert Europe, and that America is growing in material strength.

It is even hazarded that by the year 2000 A.D. incomes will be much higher for everybody, though there is nothing to indicate that the Democrats hope to remain in power from now until 2000 A.D.

The message shows the effects of too many cooks. It has in it, nevertheless, some pious expressions about peace and the need for a stable economy so as to make it impossible for communism to conquer as a consequence of an economic collapse in the United States.

Broadly speaking, the President has issued a campaign document. It is unrealistic to assume for a moment that he thinks his recommendations will be adopted in the main. Also there is nothing in the message to indicate that the administration means to make any serious attempt to stem the inflationary trend that grows out of unbalanced budgets and failure to cut down the public debt.

The President betrays anxiety about the Republicans. He hopes they will back his foreign policy because, he says, it is, in his opinion, the best for the country. Actually, being a politician himself, he knows there's political dynamite in the bipartisan foreign policy. He knows that a nation that has an unbalanced budget but keeps on spending to extremes and maintains a steady flow of billions to the rest of the world is not in a sound position and, of course, that the party in power is politically vulnerable. It is important.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 4—The National Recovery Administration of 1933, in Roosevelt's first term, was fascism and the wildest nonsense in our history. It was a narrow escape and a worse approach to our intelligence than our war fervor of 1917 because, after all, people must be expected to rise in anger or fear against a force which has been depicted to them as a mortal enemy and a brutal oppressor of helpless and utterly blameless victims. In the case of the N.R.A. the whole country, with very few notable exceptions, went absolutely stark-raving mad over an idiotic lunatic movement. We were going to hoist ourselves out of the depression, as we euphemistically spoke of the great panic, by cheering and frenzies of "cooperation" and by blackguarding and boycotting all who refused to abandon their rights to do business and work at employment according to our Constitution.

The N.R.A. finally died by a decision of the Supreme Court in a case which Hugh Johnson, the director of the administration, called the "sick-chicken case," arising out of a tiny controversy over a New York case.

Read later that the plaintiff in the sick-chicken case had fallen on unfortunate days in their business affairs and were inclined to regret their course.

Hugh Johnson was a protégé of Bernard M. Baruch and both were serious students of mass hysteria. Mrs. Virgil H. Wineshell, who was shocked, died in a hospital. Edgar Osterhout died in Albany.

Jan. 5, 1930—The service of the White House was interrupted by trips across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Patrick Shane, of W. 1 street, died.

The 10th anniversary of the Rev. Gregory Mahury's death was observed at Holy Cross Church was observed by Mrs. Virgil H. Wineshell, who was shocked, died in a hospital. Edgar Osterhout died in Albany.

Jan. 5, 1940—That House was installed as president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

William B. Ostrander, a native of Bloomington, died at the Jersey City Medical Center.

Augustus Bane was elected president of Rapid Home Company.

The Rev. Dr. Frank B. Scott, pastor of the First Street Baptist Church, was appointed a member of the Kingston City Laboratory Board.

So They Say...

Most industries are dominated more and more by monopoly. If this drift continues, it will lead to one or the other of two results: Either big business will want to control the government, in a form of Nazism, or the people will decide to let the government run industry through a form of state socialism.

—Sen. Paul Douglas (D) Illinois.

We believe... that it is the duty of the (U.N.) General Assembly to work for the re-establishment of those international conditions which will make it possible for the people of China to determine... without outside interference the type of government and the type of economic and social institutions which they desire in the future.

—U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup.

It was my pleasure last year to learn of the great work the Anchor Club does for orphans. The policemen and firemen of New York city have a branch of this club which brought the Boys' Town football team to New York last year to play the orphans' football team of New York city.

Each year the Anchor Club takes the orphans in Greater New York to Steeplechase Park at Coney Island and gives those kids a day they remember for a long time.

Today's hand gives you a lesson you may not have an occasion to use for a long time, but remember it well because it may help you to win a contract this year.

During the course of the bidding East was quite confident that North and South could make four spades, which they can. He did not expect to make five hearts but bid it merely as a sacrifice. However, when the dummy went down he could not see any reason why it should not be made.

East won the opening lead of the six of diamonds in dummy with the ace. He correctly read the lead as a singleton. He knew he had to lose a spade and the ace of trump, but how could he prevent that ruff? You might say, let East lead a trump and trust to luck.

However, there is a safe way to play the hand. You know that most of the high cards have to be in the South hand to justify his vulnerable bid.

So lead the ace of clubs and then lead the queen of clubs. When North does not cover, discard the seven of spades. It is a loser anyway. South has to win with the king. Now he cannot get North in the lead to return a diamond.

If, however, you lead a trump, after winning the opening lead, South will win it with the ace and lead the king of spades. North will not hesitate, but will overtake it with the ace and return a diamond and your contract will be defeated.

Think This Over
(London Daily Express)
Search any country with an old religion and what do you find that is always prized above rubies? Why, silence.
There is a great temptation to chatter too much. We all do it. Try for just one hour today to say as little as you need.
Odd, the sense of mystery that will grow within you in that short hour. Odd, the respect for you that will grow in others. For remember:
"It is the silence of the god we fear, not his wrath; silence is the unbearable reprieve."

Friend—And did he have the dentist take an X-ray of his wife's jaw?
Man—He tried to, but all they could get was a moving picture.

Maid—I left my last place because I was told to do something I didn't like.
Prospective Mistress—Really? What was that?
Maid—Look for another job.

Susan—My brother is a haberdasher for a railroad.
Michael—What does he do?
Susan—He has charge of the ties.

Place To Sleep, That's All That there could be no greater place to go.
I know it used to be supposed—But now home is the place young people go.
When every other place is closed.

Drugstore Clerk—Did you kill any moths with those moth balls I sold you the other day?
Customer—No, I tried for five hours, but I couldn't hit one.

Mother—Have some more of my alphabet soup.
Junior—No, thank you, I couldn't hold another word.

Put Up A Good Fight If you think you've been insulted. Be sure to consider the source. And if he's bigger than you are, just drop the whole matter.
Maurice "Feetler"

The United States still has plenty of opportunities for the young fellow alert enough to find them or make them. But they will not be found or made by the youth whose great ambition, at 20, is to get an old age pension at 65.

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Atomic energy projects, due to expand in 1950, and the urge to turn solid waste into liquids for faster, cheaper disposal are boosting the industrial control valve industry.

You may think of a valve as a gadget for turning on your water or controlling the flow of gasoline and air in your car. But you could walk through an energy plant, you might find a different idea of the importance of valves. And there are many more uses for them, more and more of a necessity for making industrial plants.

Atomic industry spokesmen estimate today that total sales have jumped from $170 million in 1949 to more than $450 million in 1950, including pipes, fittings and related items. They hope for more in 1950 as industry is urged to make more use of more mechanization, more automatic devices.

Mass production in atomic energy projects has opened a wide new market for valves. Spokesmen for Manufacturers-Honeywell Regulator Co., which is in the valve business, estimate that a fourth of total investment in atomic energy equipment is in valves, pipes and fittings.

Expansion and construction of atomic energy plants in 1949 is estimated by engineers at $633 million. In 1950 another $700 million may be spent on the plants, official figures are withheld because of the military nature of much of the work.

But not all of the work goes to making valves. Industries are turning more and more to a reactor for testing station is being built at Argonne, Idaho. Its purpose is to produce fissionable material, and to study the atomic generation of electric power and the propulsion of airplanes and surface ships.

Industries using isotopes for quality control methods include textile, rubber, chemical, paper and metalworking.

But the greatest use for valves, and perhaps still the fastest expanding, is in the food processing and transporting of products in liquid form, or as a fine powder to be blown through pipes.

For example, valves are used in turning rock-like sulphur into a liquid deep under the earth's surface and bringing it up to ground level for handling.

The food industry is using pipes and valves increasingly. Milk now travels from the cow to the bottle through a long line of them.

Liquid sugar moves increasingly to food processors, eliminating the old method of dehydrating sugar, shipping it to granular form, and then liquefying it again for use in pot, pan and oven. Valves control the vials in which the government dries its surplus eggs—the ones the hens lay, not the ones the government occasionally admits it does.

Demand for valves is reported booming in such growing industries as asphalt, synthetic textiles, printing inks, penicillin, chemicals and plastics. Preparing blood plasma for shipment abroad involves the use of valves.

They also play a part in the fight on polio. A New York hospital has converted an entire room into an oxygen tent, valves regulating the blowing and withdrawing of air in sufficient quantities to effect proper breathing by polio victims.

A large market for the valve industry is provided by the growing network of natural gas and oil pipelines across the nation.

Gas-jet cooks started the industry about 100 years ago. Times, and American customs, have changed, and now the industry boasts intricate and complex contraptions, like a steam-jacketed valve that is equally useful in producing asphalt and chocolate.

The diaphragm motor valve industry is widespread. Leading makers are to be found in such cities as Boston, Marshalltown, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., North Bergen, N. J., Bristol, Conn., Foxboro, Mass., and Rochester, N. Y.

The industry also plays glamorous roles. Once it was called upon to keep chorus girls from being asphyxiated. Special valve installations protected the whirling cutters when a New York movie and variety theatre featured a steam curtain.

And the august Metropolitan Opera relies on valves for its steam and fire effects, as in Wagner's Valkyrie and Mozart's Magic Flute.

But it's atoms, chemicals, oil and foods that add up to a little boom on the side in America's growing industrial empire.

Art Group to Meet

The Ulster County Artists' Association will meet at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 8 p. m. today for the installation of 1950 officers. The new officers are Alexander S. Fuhrman, president; Gerhart Schneider, vice-president; Joseph Matcy, secretary, and Paul Werner, treasurer. All interested artists, both professional and amateur, are invited.

Ownership of Car Is Mystery for Sheriff's Office

Ownership of an automobile abandoned along the Flatbush road remains a mystery, the sheriff's office reported today after the Motor Vehicle Bureau disclosed that the license plates on the automobile had been stolen from another vehicle.

The plates had been issued for a 1949 Oldsmobile sedan owned by Harry Greenberg of Sunnyside, L. I., the Motor Vehicle Bureau in Albany said. "The abandoned car is a 1937 Studebaker sedan," Greenberg, contacted Wednesday by the sheriff's office, said his Oldsmobile had been damaged in an accident recently and that after it had been towed to a parking lot the plates were stolen.

The Studebaker, bearing Greenberg's plates, was reported parked along the Flatbush road Tuesday. It was not damaged and had several spare tires, a car heater, radio and other items in the back seat and trunk, Sheriff George C. Smith said. Investigation is continuing.

Estate Is Given

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—A wealthy lawyer's widow announced today she was turning over a 277-acre estate at Mt. Kisco, N. Y., valued at about $175,000, to the "Moral Re-armament Movement." The announcement was made by Mrs. John Henry Hammond, who also has a home on Park avenue. The estate, "Delwood," includes two large houses, several cottages and a number of farm buildings.

Troops Are Sent
London, Jan. 5 (AP)—Britain is sending troops and a warship to Britain to quell new outbreaks of murder and violence in India's former Indian Sea colony. The Foreign Office announced the action last night and said India and Ethiopia had been warned Britain would take "a serious view" if their representatives acted in a way likely to provoke disturbance of the peace in the territory. Both India and Ethiopia want control of British India which has been occupied by Britain since 1947.

'50 Looks Like Less Profitable Year for Ulster Poultrymen

A combination of scarce poultry and continued high production costs means that 1950 will be a less favorable year for Ulster county poultrymen than 1949. That was the forecast brought back from the Agricultural Outlook Conference at Cornell University by C. H. Padgham, assistant county agricultural agent. Because 1949 was a profitable year for poultry, poultrymen in New York and the rest of the country increased the size of their laying flocks," he explained. That already has had its effect. Wendell Earle and L. B. Darrah, agricultural economists at Cornell University, reported: "Farm prices of eggs have dropped 20 per cent below those for the last part of 1948 and prices of broilers and turkeys have declined an equal amount." This is the situation as they see it. Little decline in total costs, a decline in receipts and the continued decline in commodity prices are expected to add up to smaller returns for poultrymen in 1950 than in 1949. Price declines that may occur in poultry markets are expected to be at least partly offset by increases in other costs.

An increase in the production of red meat as a result of large supplies of available grains and milled and a greater amount of pork available than last year may also affect the price of poultry. What about egg production? During the first 6 to 8 months of 1950 it is expected to be higher than for the corresponding part of 1949 since the number of layers on farms is now about 4 per cent higher than a year ago. With a larger proportion of pullets in laying flocks, the rate of lay per hen will likely be as high as in 1948. A decline in production may be expected toward the end of the year, however, they believe. Egg prices are expected to drop well below prices for the corresponding part of 1948. The economists gave increased egg production and lower support prices as the major reasons. Large supplies of turkey meat in storage, more pork and heavier culling of laying flocks will mean less favorable broiler prices. Prices of turkeys will be relatively low during the first part of the year and turkey production is expected to go down in 1950. One of the best ways Ulster county poultrymen can reduce costs is to increase egg production per hen by purchasing better chicks and using recommended management practices, Earle and Darrah advise. Other suggestions are to increase output per worker, to find and maintain dependable market outlets and to start pullets by February 1. More information to help poultrymen with their 1950 planning can be found in a poultry outlook leaflet available at the county agricultural agent's office.

What Can The People Believe?

When the anti-trust lawyers in Washington filed their suit to put the A&P out of business, they immediately handed out for all the newspapers of the United States a story giving in detail their "allegations" against this company.

When we published advertisements giving our side of the case, they protested, even though they had made, and have continued to make, in newspapers, in speeches and over the radio these charges that would seriously damage our business, if they were believed by the public.

Every week millions of American housewives patronize A&P stores. Many of them would not want to deal with the kind of people that the anti-trust lawyers represent us to be.

We think we have a right to protect this 90-year old business which has made it possible for millions of American families to get more and better food for their money, which is providing high-wage employment for 110,000 Americans and which is helping millions of farmers to improve the methods of distributing their produce.

No answer by us would be necessary if the anti-trust lawyers were always right.

But they, like all other human beings, can be wrong.

In this case we know they are wrong.

They have been wrong before.

In case after case they made charges against A&P which were proved in court to be utterly without foundation.

We will prove that statement right up to the hilt.

The anti-trust lawyers tell the public that they won a previous anti-trust suit against us at Danville, Illinois. They did.

What they do not tell you is that they brought case after case against the A&P in federal courts all over the United States. Before they won this case they suffered three defeats.

The anti-trust lawyers have told everybody about the time that the courts said they were right. We think you are entitled to know about the three times the courts said they were wrong.

Now we are going to tell you about the first one. In future advertisements we will tell you about all of them.

The Washington Bread Case

In April, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Washington, D. C.

They charged that the A&P, two grocery chain competitors, two labor unions and other good American citizens had conspired to fix the price of bread.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business? They asked millions of people to believe that we were the kind of grocers who would take bread out of the mouths of poor people and make it harder for a wife and mother to feed her family.

These charges were false.

In that case it developed that the A&P and the two competitors who were charged with conspiring with us to maintain high bread prices actually sold bread cheaper than most of the other stores in Washington.

The anti-trust lawyers presented and argued their case. When they were through, Federal District Judge Allen T. Goldsborough ruled that A&P and the other defendants did not even need to put in a defense. He instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Goldsborough said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all.

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

So here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against the A&P, in support of which, in the words of the court, they did not have "any evidence at all."

This was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made charges against the A&P which the courts said were not true. In future ads we are going to tell you about these other suits. We are not going to duck, either. We are going to tell you about the criminal suit that the anti-trust lawyers won at Danville, Illinois.

The anti-trust lawyers say that they are not attacking "bigness" or efficiency. They have to say that because the courts have decided that "bigness" and efficiency and selling at low prices is not a crime.

But the fact is crystal clear that they only brought their bread suit against the big companies and against the companies that sold good bread at the lowest prices; just as in this current suit they are attacking a big company that sells good food cheap.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

Got Away With Watches Anyhow

Chicago, Jan. 5 (AP)—A young robber took a long time to stage a break-up at a North Side jewelry store last night.

He inspected watches in the store for nearly two hours while Mrs. Joseph Stein, 45, the owner, waited for him to make his selection. Several times he left to get his wife but each time returned, saying he could not find her. Mrs. Stein, becoming suspicious, quietly locked the front door shortly before her customer finally made up his mind. But he put a hand in his pocket and said, "Get in the back or I'll shoot you."

He grabbed two watches valued at $125 and rushed to the door. Unable to open it, he insisted he was kidding and gave Mrs. Stein the watches.

Mrs. Stein unlocked the door. The robber snatched the watches from her hand and fled out the door.

TURN OF THE CENTURY in 1900 found the 83-year reign of England's Queen Victoria within a year of its end. Her straitened personality's standards of manners and morals made an impression so deep that after her death in 1901 a whole generation of Britons and Americans lived in the slow-slackening grip of the "Victorian Age." In the U. S., 1901 saw the emergence of a contrasting personality when Theodore Roosevelt became president. Dynamic proponent of "the strenuous life," he inaugurated an exciting period of overseas expansion through "manifest destiny," dealing the cards as America played its first hand in the game of modern world politics. At home, he kept the U. S. in an uproar with his "trust busting" attacks on Wall Street "plutocrats."

Machine Is Developed

Los Angeles, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Braille Institute for the Blind announced today it has developed a type-setting machine to improve the readability of moon type used by many elderly and infirm blind people. The 800-pound device, valued at $5,000, will be shipped to the Matilda Ziegler magazine for the blind at Monsey, N. Y. The endowed magazine is distributed monthly to the blind. Containing feature articles and news, it is printed in the moon type, which is a raised and simplified version of the Roman alphabet. William E. Goetze claims the device makes a cleaner type impression and speeds composing.

Will Wed Texan

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 5 (AP)—A pretty Texas cowgirl and a champion cowboy, who learned to ride on a dude ranch in his native New York state, will be married today at Dublin, Texas. Miss Rosemary Colborn, 20, will be the bride of Harry Thompson, 22, of Peekskill, N. Y. He was recently named champion bull rider of the nation on the basis of the pointward system of the Rodeo Cowboys Association. The couple met at the Phoenix, Ariz., rodeo two years ago. Rosemary is a recent graduate of the University of Arizona.

Often as I pass Governor George Clinton's monument on Wall street, I think how little is known of the man himself. During the Sesquicentennial celebration of the Empire State, Dr. Alexander C. Flick, the state historian, made an address on the "Life of George Clinton" in Kingston, N. Y., which was reprinted in The Freeman of September 10, 1927.

Dr. Flick compares two great men, Washington and Clinton, our first governor, quoting in part: "Just seven years after George Washington was born in the colony of Virginia, George Clinton saw the light of day in the province of New York. Both came from the farm, appreciated learning in a frontier community, saw service in the French and Indian War, championed the American cause, became military leaders of renown in the War of Independence, served in the Continental Congress, emerged from the Revolution as tried statesmen, one as the president and the other as vice president of the New Republic."

"They were imbued with the same high sense of service for mankind; they both believed in the rights of man; both were unselfish, high-minded, honest, sensible and capable. Both inspired confidence in their fellow men, both were guided by high moral principles. Although differing in the fundamental political convictions—the one an aristocrat, the other a democrat—they were loyal and trusted friends from the time they met in Philadelphia in 1775 until the death of Washington separated them in 1799. Attention has been called to the fact that their faces bore a striking resemblance but it is much more important to realize that their minds, ideals of life, and motives were alike."

"Although public papers of George Clinton have been printed by the state historian, yet no adequate account of his life has been written and consequently to most Kingstonians, he is an unknown character."

"George Clinton was born not many miles from Kingston at Little Britain in Ulster County (now Orange) July 26, 1739. Eight years before his birth, his father, Charles Clinton had emerged from Ireland to Ulster county, where he settled on a farm and soon became a man of local distinction. His oldest son, Alexander and Charles, entered the medical profession. James, the third son, followed a military career. George, the youngest, became the soldier and statesman. "With his father and brother

James, Clinton, at the age of 18, gained military experience as an officer in the French and Indian War, which prepared him for his rapid rise to generalship in the Revolutionary War. Meanwhile he entered the law office of William Smith, an able and scholarly attorney of New York city, and later Clinton was admitted to the bar. Through the colonial governor, Clinton, a distant relative, he was given a clerkship in Ulster county. In 1768, at the age of 27, he was elected to the New York colonial assembly where during the next even years he obtained his first political experience and matured his political convictions.

"Knowing about Clinton's military experience, Washington, on July 7, 1776, sent him to take charge of the defense of the Highlands on the Hudson. Although elected to the Fourth New York Provincial Congress in 1776, which adopted the Declaration of Independence, his political career was cut short for the time being by his military activity. (Meanwhile the convention moved from White Plains to Fishkill and then to Kingston where on April 20th, 1777, the constitution was adopted.)

"There were many candidates for Governor and no evidence shows that Clinton was an active candidate, but his friends were many and he was elected. It was not until July 30, 1777, that he was able to come to Kingston for his inauguration, which is over nine feet high and weighs some 15 tons, in the end and then only to hurry back to his difficult triple post as General in the Continental army, head of the state militia and Governor of New York State.

"So appreciative were the New York State citizens of Clinton's ability, that after the treaty of peace was signed, they continued him in the Governor's office for 38 years and in 1801 for another three years. In 1801 he was elected vice president of the nation. He died at his post on April 25, 1812 before the expiration of his second term. He was buried in the Congressional Cemetery at Washington, then which in May 1898, his remains were transferred to Kingston." All of us know the Governor Clinton Monument which is over nine feet high and weighs some 15 tons, in the end and then only to hurry back to his difficult triple post as Gen-

Telephone Strike Planned

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—A nationwide telephone strike is planned by a newly-chartered C.I.O. union for early next month. The C.I.O. Communications Workers of America said it will call for a walkout unless the Bell Telephone System yields to demands for a "substantial" wage increase, shorter apprentice periods, and a 35-hour week. A. T. Jones, C.W.A.'s vice president, said 100,000 workers are in a position to strike at any time now. Another wave of 150,000 workers, he said, will be ready to quit their jobs by the end of February.

Car Hits Mail Box

A mail box was knocked down and the front of Epstein's store, on lower Broadway, was damaged, when a car, operated by Mildred Stanley, 159 Hunter street, went over the curb at about 3:20 p. m. yesterday, according to the police. Officers Walter Fitzgerald and Thomas McGrane, who investigated, took the mail box to the post office. The car was headed down Broadway at the time, the report said.

Three Displays Are Made by Students

The Retail 2 class at Kingston High School set up three more window displays this week in Room 153. One display was an assortment of men's wallets, belts, ties, the pins and shirts, borrowed through the courtesy of Hynes on North Front street. This display was arranged by Ronald Steeger, Harry Short and Oscar Dahl.

Another display, set up by Richard Mundt, Marie LaTorre and Yolanda Turek, was an arrangement of men's shirts and jackets, loaned by Montgomery Ward and Company.

The third display featured girls' skirts and sweaters and dress of the latest style. This display was set up by Robert Goodwin, Kenneth Haggins and John Ferguson. Scott's on Wall street furnished the merchandise.

Countries Are Warned

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Western European countries have been warned to expect a 25 per cent cut in Marshall Plan aid next year, and they may not even lose if they do not follow American recovery recommendations. Richard M. Bissell, assistant deputy administrator of E.C.A., said yesterday that the 16 nations receiving Marshall Plan aid have been notified of the impending cut. Bissell said only Greece would be exempt from the proposed reduction in U. S. spending.

Threat Is Removed

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—A temporary agreement has removed the threat of an immediate strike on Bee Line buses patronized by 60,

Old daily riders in Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties. The strike had been set tentatively for today by Local 252 of the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union against Bee Line Inc. and two affiliated companies. The international union has announced that it will not go to a state mediation. The parties are still far apart, he said.

CREAMO ONLY MARGARINE WITH CREAM

5 to 1 choice Creamo in Taste-Test

Housewives will be interested to know Creamo Margarine's popularity has grown faster in the past few years than the combined average of all other brands. This is due to the fact that Creamo is the only margarine made with cream.

In taste tests between Creamo and the most expensive type bread spreads, participating school children chose Creamo Margarine 5 to 1.

Users say Creamo's creamy-rich flavor is so distinctively delicious, the first taste is noticeably more flavorful than ordinary spreads. Not only does Creamo taste better—it's more economical, too. The extra flavor goes so much farther than ordinary spreads.

Ritz-Carlton Is To Be Torn Down

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The ultra-fashionable Ritz-Carlton Hotel, whose name helped put the word "Ritz" into the English language, is to be torn down.

A 25-story office building will be erected on its place.

The task of demolishing the 10-story hotel, a luxury landmark in New York city for 40 years, will begin early next year.

The plan was disclosed yesterday by the Ritz Brothers real estate firm, which said it had obtained a long-term lease on the site for an annual ground rental of $25,000.

The firm said the new office building will cost some $15,000,000.

The hotel, scene of many a lavish social event and internationally known for its fine food and luxurious facilities, fronts the west side of Madison avenue from 46th to 47th streets, Manhattan.

It has been a stopping place for celebrities, European royalty and the wealthy, and some of its gala parties seldom have been matched anywhere in the world. It has been a favorite showplace for young debutantes, bowing into society.

Built by the late Robert Goetz, the hotel was opened in 1910. A part of the hotel property is the adjacent Carlton House which is used largely for permanent tenants. It too will be demolished.

The property was acquired in 1943 by the William Waldorf Astor Estate, from which the Ritz Brothers firm has leased it.

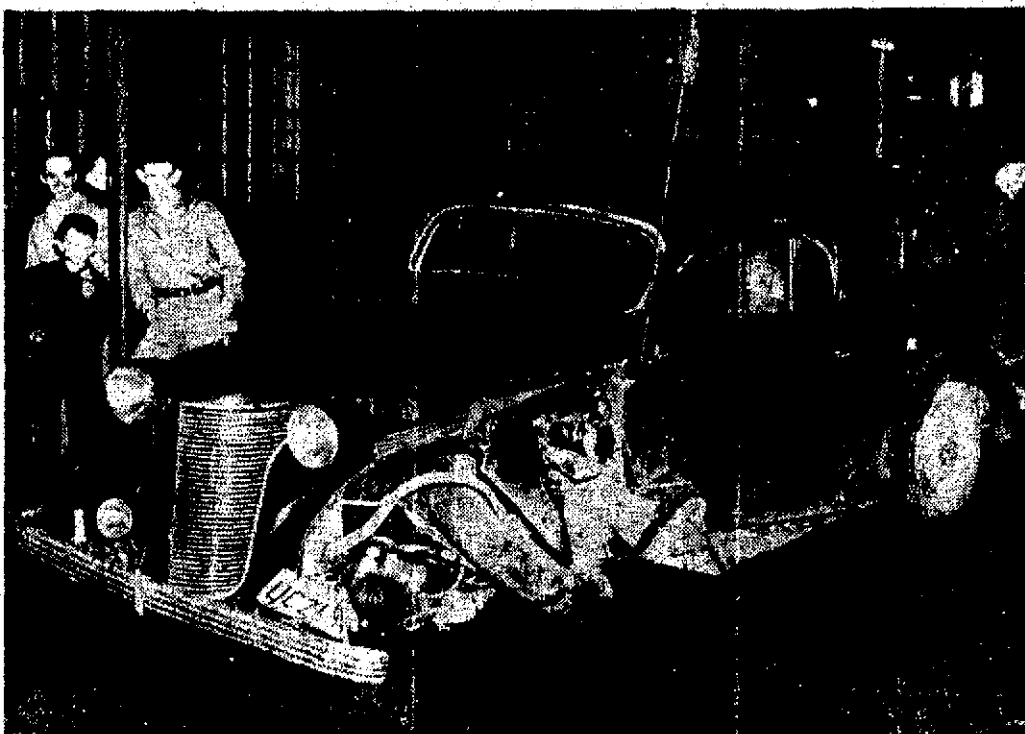

R. B. Knox, trustee of the Astor Estate, said the Ritz-Carlton Hotel Company will operate a new apartment hotel now being constructed at Madison avenue and 61st street, under the name of Carlton House. The new structure will be open to present permanent tenants of the Ritz-Carlton property.

Asked the reason for the planned wrecking of the Ritz-Carlton, Knox said only that "we would just like to see an office building there."

Cars Collide on Central Broadway

A woman was injured in an automobile collision on Broadway near Henry street early last night, according to the police. Officers Walter Fitzgerald and Thomas McGrane, who investigated, said that one car, owned and operated by John J. LaVelle, 162 Market street, Saugerties, was headed north on Broadway, and the other, owned and operated by James Wood, 282 North street, was traveling in the opposite direction. The injured woman, who was riding in the latter car, the report said, left the scene before her name was obtained, and it was said she went to a doctor for treatment. (Freeman Photo)

Holiday Fair Tops

Previous Years' Mark

Woodstock, Jan. 5.—The pre-Christmas Holiday Fair of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen is always the highlight of the guild's year's activities. This year it was gay and more sparkling than ever with a much wider variety of "craftwork." It featured a large selection of unusual Christmas articles such as table decorations, metal cutouts and decorative objects with Christmas motifs.

Financially, it topped previous years, and now the 135 consignors are receiving the fruits of their efforts.

So widely known has the Holiday Fair of the guild become that friends from all over the country send in orders for their gifts. Already a standing order for a dozen of the classic copper angels is on the books for next year.

Four Convicts Are Back in Custody

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 5 (AP)—Four convicts who shot their way to freedom Saturday and touched off one of Arkansas' most sensational manhunts are back in custody today—two of them in a hospital with bullet wounds.

The end of the grueling, five-day chase through rain and finally sleet and cold weather came last night when the last of the desperadoes were captured in North Little Rock.

"I'm glad it's over," said 22-year-old Jack Rheuark of Sapulpa, Okla., one of the wounded men. "The cold was hell."

Arkansas Prison Supt. Lee Henslee said he, too, was glad the hunt was over.

Rheuark and James Perry Williams, 29, of Sheridan, Ark., were the only two fugitives who lived up to Henslee's prediction that the convicts would not be taken without a fight.

Williams was wounded in the back, thigh, neck and shoulder. Rheuark was hit in the leg, back, arm and hand. Their conditions were described as "not critical."

Less than an hour before, the second fugitive, 28-year-old David Dyer of Oklahoma City, was taken. Like the first of the convicts, he was shot in the back, arm and hand. Dyer did not resist.

All four of the men were taken to the hospital.

Water Hearing Is Set in Po'keepsie

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—A public hearing will be held Jan. 10 on New York city's application to take 100,000,000 gallons of water from the Hudson river each day.

The plan to help ease the city's critical water shortage was recommended by Governor Dewey. The city seeks official approval. It would pump the water from the river at a point north of Esopus.

The State Water Power and Control Commission yesterday ordered that a public hearing be held 11 a. m. at the Dutchess county courthouse in Poughkeepsie.

Commission members are: Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea and Bertram D. Tallamy, superintendent of public works.

major floods over the full length of the Wabash and White rivers were predicted by Weather Bureau officials. Heavy rains over the past several days have sent the rivers and creeks in Indiana and Illinois over their banks. The mercury dropped to a low of near zero in northwestern Arkansas as the cold air mass spread into the south. Temperatures fell from 20 to 40 degrees from their high marks yesterday. The cold, with rain and sleet and some snow, extended from Arkansas and Kentucky into Tennessee, northern Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The Weather Bureau reported a rain belt from central New York state southwestward through Tennessee and the lower Mississippi valley and the freezing rain, sleet or snow in an area 100 to 200 miles wide from central Ohio southwestward to southern Arkansas. The mercury tumbled to 26 degrees below zero at International Falls and Bemidji, Minn., early today. Other sub-zero marks were reported over most of Minnesota, Montana, the Dakotas and parts of Iowa and Wisconsin. New records for the date were set in many eastern cities yesterday as temperatures climbed to mid-summer readings. But the cold air moving from the Midwest was expected to put the mercury back to near normal marks soon.

Expected to Benefit

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Nearly 90,000 New York and New Jersey employees are expected to benefit from the new federal minimum wage of 75 cents an hour, which becomes effective January 25. Arthur J. White, regional director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division, estimated yesterday that this many workers would get mandatory pay boosts of five to 15 cents an hour. Some 2,800,000 employees in New York, and 960,000 in New Jersey are covered by the new law, White said, but all but about 90,000 already receive the 75-cent minimum, or more. The law, the 1949 Fair Labor Standards Amendment, raises the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents hourly.

Newspaper advertising was given the major portion of the credit in making Jolly Time Pop Corn "the most preferred pop corn in the world" by Howard C. Smith, president of the American Pop Corn Company. He announced an extension of the company's advertising in the newspapers of all 48 states, Hawaii, and Canada for the year 1950.

"Our advertising in local newspapers is the backbone of all Jolly Time sales promotion," Mr. Smith said "Year after year, sales surveys show that in cities where Jolly Time Pop Corn is continually advertised, it is first in sales. We ask for no better proof of the power of newspaper advertising than what is shown in our sales records."

This season newspaper advertising for Jolly Time Pop Corn will be the largest in history. This represents the largest advertising program scheduled for any packaged pop corn for home popping purposes.

"We have increased our newspaper advertising each year," continued Mr. Smith, "and each year our sales have shown a corresponding increase. We are so firmly convinced of the effectiveness of newspaper advertising that there is much we would do without before we would consider dropping our valuable newspaper advertising."

About the Folks

Miss Patricia Rein, 98 Tubby street, is convalescing at the Benedictine Hospital following an appendectomy.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—A heavy profit taking sales crippled a bull market today.

Leading stock advanced fractions to around a point at a breath-taking opening. Within a couple of hours gains were either trimmed or disappeared entirely. Business dwindled as quotations receded.

The opening bell released a huge volume of orders. Trading was so active that for a while the ticker tape could not keep up with reporting transactions on the floor of the exchange. At one time the lag amounted to three minutes, an unusual occurrence.

Sales for the first hour alone totaled 860,000 shares, and by noon were far past the 1,000,000-share point.

The impact of the initial buying lifted the price level to a high for more than three years.

Railroad stocks surged ahead in the bond market, with the lower priced lines attracting the bulk of attention. U. S. Governments held firm in over-the-counter dealings.

Stock Prices Leap Ahead To Highest in 3 Years

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Stock prices shot ahead at high speed in opening trade today.

The buying rush, a carryover from yesterday's strong market, lifted the price level to the highest point in more than three years.

Orders flooded into the exchange in such volume that the ticker tape fell behind recording actual transactions by as much as three minutes.

Individual gains ranged from a few cents to around $1 a share. Dipped but all types of stocks.

Yesterday the market made one of the largest gains in the past year while details of the President's annual State of the Union message circulated through the nation.

The President's message, on the whole, was well received in the financial district. The most critical comment was to the effect that the proposals made were "the same old thing"—a restatement, in other words, of the President's "Fair Deal" program.

Sander Gives Plea

Court Judge Harold E. Westcott may take one of three courses today—commit the doctor to jail without bail pending trial, permit him to remain at liberty in current $25,000 bail or increase the bond.

The physician faced the possibility of losing his right to practice medicine in New Hampshire pending outcome of the trial.

Dr. John S. Wheeler, secretary of the State Board of Registration in Medicine, said the group will meet within two days to determine whether Dr. Sander's license should be revoked.

Dr. Wheeler's statement was made shortly before Dr. Sander's scheduled court appearance on the indictment charging he willfully, feloniously and maliciously injected the air into Mrs. Borroto's system.

The physician has admitted the fatal injections but insists it was "an act of mercy."

The secretary of the medical board described Dr. Sander as "a man of high professional standing and reputation."

"I feel in my duty, however, that a decision must be made," he added. "We have no precedent in this state or anywhere in the United States."

The New Hampshire law states "The board may revoke the license of any licensee * * * who has been convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment in the state prison or whose moral character or personal habits are such as to unfit him for the practice of medicine."

The testimony was given at one of a series of hearings on defense moves to prevent trial of Miss Coplon, former Department of Justice employee, and Valentin A. "PLEASE MOVE OVER" REFUSED

A previous answer in this column brings me this question: May I speak my mind this once about your piece regarding the woman who went to the motion pictures with her husband, and while you that she was upset because another woman refused to be courteous enough to move over so she and her husband could sit together on the only evening in the week they had to be together? First it sounded rather cruel of the woman to refuse them but your answer that her request was proper and the one seated very discourteous leads me to tell you another possible side to this situation. I'm very short and go to the movies early so I can pick a seat behind a child or another short person. It's impossible to see otherwise if I was asked to move over I would have to refuse or go home. Does refusal label me as a discourteous individual? The situation you describe is extremely reasonable and understandable. In your particular case had you explained, they could certainly not have failed to understand.

Boutonnieres for Both Fathers
Dear Mrs. Post: When the bridegroom wants to buy corsages for his mother, the brides mother and for the brides going away, should he first ask them what kind they prefer? Also, would it be improper for the groom's father to wear a boutonniere like the other men?

Answer: He should, of course ask what they are wearing in order to choose flowers becoming to their clothes. It would be entirely proper for the groom's father to wear a similar boutonniere.

Thank-You for Shower Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I gave a baby shower for a friend and I now discover she did not write the "thank-you" notes to the guests. Since these people were my close friends and not hers, shouldn't she have written it only for my sake?

Answer: If her thanks at the time the presents were opened were appreciative and thoughtfully given your friends could hardly expect her to write further than that. Of course, if she looked at them very hurriedly and casually, then I think notes would be expected.

When does the bride throw her bouquet? Who makes the toast to the bride and groom? Who pays the expenses? These and many other questions are answered in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, c/o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19 N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. In the other half of the twin-bill, Harry's Angels went on a scoring spree to bury Fuller's Shirts by 82 to 42.

Dunham Gets 28 Dunham's 28 points sparked the Angels to their easy victory over Fuller's. Dunham, in leading the parade, piled in 13 dunks, and added a pair of foul conversions for his 28 markers.

Eric Goetche followed with 21 for the winners while Paul Kaman and Petruska accounted for 13 and 12 points respectively. Jeff Brannen, center for Fuller's, topped his club with 14. Mac Osterhoudt and George Hooker each clipped in 10.

Oil Man Requests Franchise in New Pro Football Loop

Chicago, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that Glenn McCarthy, wealthy Texas oil man had requested a franchise in the new National American Football League for Houston.

The Tribune said expansion of the league to 16 teams became a possibility with disclosure of McCarthy's request. It added McCarthy said in Houston last night he would like to see another franchise granted either in Dallas or New Orleans. He said that Seymour Weiss, New Orleans hotelman, "would work for that."

McCarthy was quoted by the Tribune as saying that if his request for a franchise is granted when the league meets in Philadelphia Jan. 19 he would like to purchase the Chicago Hornets, frozen out of the new setup, and move players and coaches into Rice Stadium at Houston.

The Texas oil and hotel man, the Tribune said, declared that 35 or 40 other Houston business men were interested in the project. He did not wish to identify any other potential backers yet.

Jim Ryan smashed a 203-125-183-511 series to grab top honors in the Rip Van Winkle League. Ed Heins and George Silverstein fashioned a pair of 507s. J. Serrin near-missed with 498. B. Hornbeck shot 490. A. Mazzucchi and Pete Tiano 484. J. Bonicase 480. C. Robinson 478. A. Cross 475. D. Tomczyk 474.

CHICILSKY'S CHATTER:
Joe McGraw is itching for a return match with Tom Yonta. George Scheffel asked us to arrange a match with a certain "southpaw ace" but we told George to relax and rest on his laurels. You're still a young man, George, and fifty bucks is a lot of dough to put on the line. How about giving "Lottie" Castura a chance to get his money back?

Central Hudson shapes up as the powerhouse of the City Minor this season. Jim Bonicase rolls a very effective ball and should be going places in the near future. Quiz of the week: What was the highest individual triple ever recorded in local tennis history?

Johnny Zeeh's pinfall of 577, featuring a 222 opener, topped the C.Y.O. activities at the Bowldrome Wednesday night. Zeeh's other counts were 188 and 187. Others in the 500 circle were 122 Mott with 540, Ray Zeeh 535, Nick Bruk 508-505, and Joe Mahan 504. Fred Ferraro and "Burr" Rourke posted 493 and 490 respectively.

Joe Mitchell of St. Colman's No. 1 team rolled the unusual triplets of 138-138-138 for a 418 series. Another highlight of the matches included Don Herzog's conversion of the tough 7-9 split.

Rapping the pot-bellied maples for a smooth string of 185-200-187, Evelyn "Blonde Bomber" Gross was the top performer in the Colonial Women's League last night at the Bowlditorium with her 572 triple.

The brief list of 500 triples also included Beverly Markle with 521 and Rose Schatzel with 506.

Other top efforts included Evelyn Dolben's 486; Evelyn Francis 478; Rita LaRocca 472; Betty Bruk 462; and Ada Markle 460.

Top effort in the Silver Division of the Colonial Women's wheel was turned in by Helen Broskie who belted 465 on scores of 165-141-159. Bertha Schaller was runnerup with 450.

The Purple Division standard bearer was Mabel Davis who fired 144-172-131 for a 447 three-timer.

Sue Heins just missed out on a coveted 500 triple by nine pins but her 491 series was still tops in the Pioneer Women's circuit at the Bowldrome Wednesday night. Sue fired games of 154-144-193 for the top triple of the night.

The only other 400 belonged to N. Glennon who posted 404.

A 405 triple took the honors in the Women's Booster wheel at the "Palace" where Margaret Bertram shot 104-129-172 for that 405 topper. Helen Buchholz was runnerup with an even 400 series.

SPORTS

The snooze this space has enjoyed in the past few weeks may not have equalled Rip Van Winkle's historic snore for longevity, but it served as a guiding light for you good readers in search of the high quality merchandise during the Christmas period. Frankly, we have never enjoyed any Yuletide gifts quite so completely as the bicycle and creator set mother found lurking on this page several days before Christmas. Not to mention several sparkling cravats.

Bagatelles:

"A rose by any other name..." Actually, it wouldn't amount to much, would it? Similarly, Kingston High School in any role except a DUSO basketball favorite is construed as a journalistic fraud by our DUSO contemporaries. "Bo" Gill, the energetic Newburgh News sports scrivener who has made a career of viewing with alarm Kingston's domination at Hill City basketball aggregations, was not particularly impressed by Coach G. Warren Kins' early season pleading that Kingston would have "only a fair team."

As a matter of fact, the bench Gill needed N.E.A. adherents and lowered his social standing in the community by suggesting to DUSO schedule makers that Newburgh be paired against Kingston feebly in the season and get the glory over early. We considered that a sensible solution since nobody, not even Gill, the historian, can recall when Newburgh last beat Kingston in basketball. Can you?

Flotsam and Jetsam:
It was not easy to fault Coach Kins' early season logic. He had local stalwarts like Ken Lowe, Joe Albany, Mike Rienza, Lafayette Holstein, Mort Gazlay and Koofe Chambers. Hannie Scheffel, was returning (a whole ball club, rival DUSO cynics say). Bud Scheffel, George Holstein, Jim Richl. This shined up as a good ball club, not a great one, and Fallsburg, Port Jervis and Newburgh were stacked. All signs pointed to just a fair season for Kingston, everything except the intangible factor—K.H.S. basketball tradition. This is an item that is never overlooked in rival camps. The man who wrote that there is no such thing as a little garlic might easily have added that there is no such animal as a bad season for K.H.S. basketball. Kingston won the opener as predicted against a Middletown quintet that was weak and outclassed. They humbled ragged and disorganized Beacon. Coach Kins could have called his score in both of those contests and twice cleared the bench.

The Replacements Came On:

When the Maroons won those two contests by landslide margins, while Ronnie Scheffel was struggling to get into high gear, the skeptics could no longer be contained. "This is another powerhouse," was the lament. . . in Port Jervis, Middletown, Newburgh and other precincts of the DUSO. Ronnie Scheffel broke loose with 27 points in Monticello and the Kiamen manhandled the Monties on their home boards in a fashion that overshadowed any accomplishment of the Weaver-Sagendorf-Zelia era. The masks were ripped from the faces of the pretenders and who do you think was hiding behind them? The K.H.S. basketballers.

The overwhelming rout of Port Jervis at the municipal auditorium was the last drop in the cup of hemlock for rival DUSO powers. "Bo" Gill threw up his hands in despair and headed for southern golf courses. Ralph Frederick, of the Port Jervis Gazette, chronicled, "No Kingston team ever manhandled Port Jervis like that before. . . . Others made similar gestures of despair.

This Club Has Class:

We don't think Kingston was that much better than Port Jervis, not against a team that outscored the wild shooting Fallsburg Cornets, 71-69, on the Fallsburg boards. Certain psychological factors figured in the early breaks for Kingston. The Maroons handled big Jay Bauer quickly and Moll Leonard's savage rebounding threw the tri-city club into confusion and despair. Bauer blew his top and wasn't worth a plugged nickel to his club. Without him at peak form there is no comparison between the clubs.

A coach who has piloted 15 DUSO pennant winners is not likely to be disturbed by accolades that are being heaped on his athletes. Kingston isn't likely to win them all, but at the moment there is nothing in the DUSO League that should cause them great concern. Not bad for a club that just a few weeks ago was tabbed as "just a fair team."

Today's anniversary date—Jan. 4, 1937—Melbourne, 87,898 fans, record for one-day cricket crowd, saw Australia engage England here today.

Kingston Invades Fallsburg Friday For DUSO Contest

Riding on the crest of a three-game winning skid, Coach G. Warren Kins' Kingston High School basketball team returns to DUSO League action Friday night with hopes of making it four in a row at Fallsburg.

The Maroon's last league activity was against Port Jervis on December 21 when the Kiamen staggered the Tri-Staters with a pulverizing 70 to 31 defeat. Kingston currently dominates the 1949-50 season in the DUSO setup with three straight conquests. Port Jervis and Monticello are tied for second with a 2-1 record.

Fallsburg, with a 1 and 2 record for the early season, looked strong in its recent 72 to 46 rout of the once-fabled Liberty Redskins. Moe Laszkowitz's 24 points sparked the Fallsmen to that initial triumph.

While Kingston is at Fallsburg tomorrow night, the remainder of league action finds Middletown at Port Jervis and Newburgh invading the Liberty lair.

Following are the standings to date:

	W	L	Pct.
Kingston	3	0	1.000
Port Jervis	2	1	.667
Monticello	2	1	.667
Newburgh	1	1	.500

Yankees Take No. 2 Berth in Voting

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Notre Dame football team, undefeated over a 38-game stretch, was voted the nation's outstanding team of 1949 in the annual year-end poll of sports writers by the Associated Press.

Thus, the Fighting Irish pulled a big double for the year, having previously been voted the No. 1 college football team in the final weekly Associated Press poll.

With 95 voting, 52 named Notre Dame as the outstanding team of the country in any sport, professional or amateur. The Irish got 27 second choice votes, and three for third, and ran up a total of 213 points.

Runnerup honors went to the New York Yankees, whose crisp play fought to the American League championship, then blasted of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series. The Yankees had 149 points, with 27 first place votes, 29 second and 12 third.

The University of Kentucky basketball team, N.C.A.A. champions last spring, easily took third honors with 67 points. Kentucky got eight first place votes, 19 for second and 23 for third.

Eagles Are Fourth
Fourth place went to the Philadelphia Eagles, champions of the National Football League for the second straight year, with 24 points. The Minneapolis Lakers, champions of the Basketball Association of America, were fifth.

Following in order were the Cleveland Browns, four-time winners of the All-America Football Conference championship; the Phillips Oilers, A.A.U. basketball champions; the University of Oklahoma football team; the Japanese swimming team and University of San Francisco basketball team, national invitation basketball champions, tie for ninth; and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Other teams receiving votes were the Boston Red Sox, U. S. Ryder Cup golf team, University of California crew, Boston Braves, the E. & B. Restaurant bowling team, Detroit, St. Louis University basketball team, Brooklyn Dodgers, Army football team, U. S. Davis Cup tennis team, Oklahoma A. & M. football team, Wofford College football team, Harlem Globetrotters basketball team, Detroit Red Wings hockey team, and William and Mary college tennis team.

The Cleveland Indians, winners of the 1948 poll with 174 points, did not receive a vote. Neither did the Michigan football team, second in the poll a year ago.

St. John's Voted Top U. S. Quintet

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—St. John's of Brooklyn today held in a victory over a field of one of the most widely open scrambles ever for national collegiate basketball supremacy.

The Redmen of Brooklyn with a 12-1 record were voted the No. 1 quintet of the country in the first of the Associated Press weekly polls on the top teams in the sport.

Second place went to Kentucky's "rattlers," Wildcat, who have lost only to St. John's. The Wildcats rebounded to down Villanova and Bradley, two strong clubs, and won the Sugar Bowl tonney. St. John's, which was knocked out of the unbeaten class Tuesday night by a blazing CCNY team, 51-52, received a total of 696 points in the voting of 88 sports writers and sportscasters around the country. Points were awarded on a 10-9-8-7, etc., basis for 1 to 10 selections.

The other members of the first ten are No. 3 Bradley, 485 points; 4 Long Island U., 470 points; 5 Indiana, 118 points; 6 Holy Cross, 315; 7 North Carolina State, 232; 8 Duquesne, 141; 9 U.C.L.A., 140; 10 Minnesota, 102.

St. John's twin triumphs over last year's big tourney champion, Kentucky of the N.C.A.A., and San Francisco of the National Invitation tourney undoubtedly swayed the experts in the Redmen's direction.

The Brooklyn five plays a powerful schedule. But the Brooklynites have a return struggle ahead of them to keep on top. Kentucky, for instance, is a sophomore-loaded team which has been improving from game to game. Long Island, a tall, smart team, is rated in the metropolitan area as at least equal to St. John's.

Giants Sign McCormick

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Superstitious New York Giant baseball fans are elated today over the addition of Outfielder Myron "Mike" McCormick. The veteran ball-hawk is regarded as a "good luck" charm who has a knack for bringing pennants to his stopping places. He played on pennant winners at Cincinnati, Boston and Brooklyn. McCormick, 32, was signed by the Giants yesterday as a free agent. He got into only 55 games and batted a meek .209 for the Dodgers in 1949 but landed in the World Series for the third time. The Dodgers gave Mike the pink slip after the Series.

Crusaders Notch 10th Straight Win

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—It used to be Dartmouth and Rhode Island State which upheld New England prestige in national collegiate basketball. Now it's Holy Cross.

The unbeaten Crusaders, ranked sixth in the first Associated Press poll of the season, wrecked Harvard last night, 102-71, for their 10th straight victory.

Sparked by Bob Cousy, Holy Cross put on such a smooth team offensive that Coach Bus shealy said afterwards: "If we get by our next three opponents (Boston College, Georgetown University and St. Louis) we'll be hard to catch."

Unranked DePaul again demonstrated its hex against Oklahoma A & M, on the Aggies' home court at Stillwater. DePaul edged the Aggies, 41-40. DePaul has yet to lose to the Aggies at Stillwater.

Kentucky, ranked 2nd to St. John's of Brooklyn, opened its Southeastern Conference season with an easy 87-63 conquest of Mississippi State. St. Louis, ranked 11th, whipped Detroit, 56-41, in a Missouri Valley Conference fray.

Mulloy Opens Defense

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 5 (AP)—Gardner Mulloy opens defense of his Dixie Tennis Championship here today against Bob Sierra of Tampa. The Davis Cup star from Miami is not figured to get more than a good workout against Sierra, one of the south's better juniors. It is a second round match. Mulloy drew a bye in the first round. Most of the field is a round ahead of Mulloy. Fred Behrens of Fort Lauderdale seeded second meets Don Kiser of St. Petersburg in the first round. Don Kiser, University of Miami, 6-4, 6-2, and Jack Stetten, Orlando, 6-2, 6-4, yesterday.

Hijackers Take $20,000 In Furs From N. Y. Firm

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—A New York furrier was robbed last night of furs which he valued at nearly $20,000, Detective Peter J. Mink reported.

The victim of the hijacking was Gerson Brenner, head of Gerson Brenner, Inc., of 6 W. 77th street, New York city. Gerson told Mink the furs included 54 coats and five bundles of Russian broad tail skins, which he was taking to Pittsburgh for delivery.

Mink related the following story told him by Gerson.

The New York furrier and an employee, Valentine Goley of Jackson Heights, N. Y., stopped at the Howard Johnson restaurant on Route 22 for dinner.

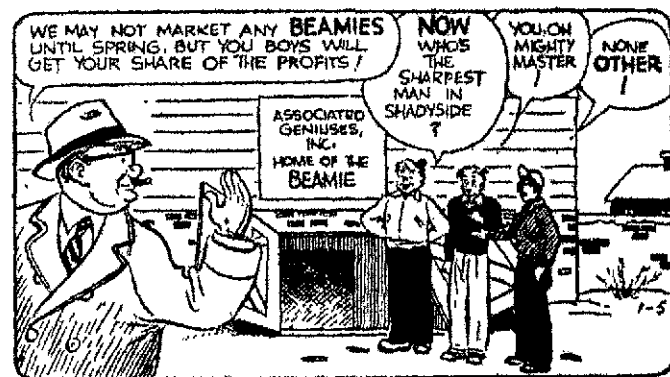

Goley stayed in the car while Brenner ate. When Brenner returned Goley went into the restaurant.

Shortly after Brenner was left alone the left door of the car was opened and a hard object was shoved into his ribs. At the same time another man got into the car, sat down over his eyes and showed him beneath the dashboard.

The hijackers drove the car to a lonely road near the Allentown airport where Brenner was bound and gagged and the furs removed to another car.

Brenner managed to use his chin to press his car horn and attract the attention of George Janoski of Bethlehem, who freed the furrier.

tion of the Civil Service Law would consist of 11 members, five appointed by the governor, three from the Senate and three from the Assembly. One of the governor's appointees would be a representative of the Civil Service Commission.

Members would serve without compensation and would report to the Legislature by February 15, 1951. The bill would provide an appropriation of $50,000.

Another Dewey program bill would provide for optional retirement of state employees and members of the State Retirement System at the age of 55, with the state paying half of the extra contributions to the retirement fund. State workers now may retire at 55, but they must bear the entire burden of the additional contributions over regular payments for the normal retirement age of 60.

Other administration bills would:

Continue the Joint Hospital Survey and Planning Commission to April 1, 1955. The commission is scheduled to expire April 1, 1955.

Continue for another year, until March 31, 1951, the Housing Law, which authorizes the state's emergency building program for veterans.

A constitutional amendment to establish the "Missouri Plan" of selecting state Supreme Court justices was introduced by Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican.

His plan is similar to one recommended by Governor Dewey in his annual message.

In both versions, the governor would appoint the justices, who later would be passed on by the voters.

Desmond's plan calls for voter approval after one year of service; Dewey's after two. Desmond also would have the governor appoint one of three candidates submitted to him by a special judicial council.

Dewey's plan would be optional with the judicial districts. He did not specify how the appointees would be selected.

Permanent registration of voters was proposed by Senator Flinn W. Williamson, Westchester Republican. Under his plan, voters would remain on registration lists provided they voted every two years.

Voters in cities of more than 5,000 population now must register personally each year. Voters in rural communities are continued on registration lists from year to year.

Another bill would slash state welfare aid to localities from its present 80 per cent to 50 per cent. (Sen. Van Duzer, R-Orange).

military aid to non-Communist countries abroad.

There is the list of certainties ended.

Lawmakers jumped in the doubtful category the presidential proposals for middle-income housing aid, continuation of rent control, expansion of displaced persons admission, aid to education and the "point four" program of economic help for the world's backward areas.

They gave even less chance of passage to an international trade organization resolution and the President's civil rights program.

In his mildly-phrased message, the President didn't expand his "Fair Deal," but asked for action only on things he has talked about before.

Republicans met this immediately with a scorching statement, signed by 100 House G.O.P. members, accusing the President of committing himself "to the eventual socialization of America and the elimination of the traditional American competitive system."

Senator Taft of Ohio, who heads the Senate G.O.P. policy committee, said Mr. Truman's message reminded him of Byron's quotation: "The mildest manner'd man that ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat."

Taft said Mr. Truman was inconsistent in lauding free enterprise and at the same time advocating measures which would destroy freedom—special privileges to labor union bosses, the compulsory medical plan, the Brannan farm controls and increased taxes.

The Ohioan said Mr. Truman was fathering "hand-out programs which will add ten or 12 billion to the budget."

That budget, to be sent to Congress Monday, promised to be a focus point for the economy wave which seemed to be lapping up recruits in Congress.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) told reporters yesterday that the new budget will call for "a little above $42,000,000,000," with about $3,000,000,000 shored off for foreign and defense outlays, but including a $2,000,000,000 increase in domestic spending.

This increase would be a sure target for congressional money savers.

Even Mr. Truman's appeal for controlled Hungary and Czechoslovakia were selling at lower prices. A Department of Agriculture market reporter disclosed that 30,000 bags of onions from Hungary (108 to 110 pounds per bag) and about 1,000 from Czechoslovakia were unloaded in New York during the past two months, but said this was only a minor fraction of the city's total onion receipts.

Food promised to be much in the legislative news spotlight as the new session of Congress opened this week.

President Truman in his State of the Union message called for a method of farm price support which avoids "piling up of unmanageable surpluses and allows consumers to obtain the full benefit of abundant farm production."

The administration recommends allowing perishable foods to sell at whatever prices they will bring in the open market, then having the government pay farmers the difference between those prices and an estimated "fair" return. Many big farm organizations are fiercely opposed to discarding the present plan under which the government buys enough farm products to keep prices from falling below support levels.

The Senate's first major new business is the House-approved bill to abolish the 10-cent-a-pound tax on yellow-colored oleomargarine and other oleo levers. The measure has long been bitterly fought by senators from dairy states.

Also Senator Guy Gillette (D-Iowa) has announced the agriculture subcommittee he heads will soon reopen public hearings into prices of coffee, milk and bread. The hearings were recessed for the holidays.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week advanced one cent to $3.73 and compared with $4.12 a year ago. The figure represents the total wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

To Buy Community

Winfield, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—This community of 700 families, which sprung out of the mud of industrial North Jersey during the war, is going to get a chance to buy itself. The township's board of trustees yesterday was authorized to accept the government's offer to sell the community to its citizens for $1,350,000 on a 45-year mortgage. That would amount to less than $2,000 for each of the 700 families.

Gravel Coming Down

Los Angeles (AP) — Miss Helen Taylor combed the gravel out of her hair and told police this tale. Walking along a sidewalk she saw an uphill-bound truck roll backward when the driver, Henry C. Miss Taylor, pinned to the wall by a protruding part of the truck, was showered with gravel. She was not injured seriously.

Mother Sues Lisa Kirk For Part of Paychecks

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Broadway Stage Star Lisa Kirk has been sued by her mother for part of her paychecks.
The shapely singer and actress currently has a leading role in the musical hit, "Kiss Me, Kate."
The mother, Mrs. Elsie F. Kirk, of Manhattan, claims that several years ago she agreed to provide her daughter with a "complete musical and dramatic education." In return, she said, her daughter agreed to make her a full partner in all Lisa's contracts and earnings.
But, the mother says, now that her daughter is a big success she has backed out on the agreement. Mrs. Kirk claims she spent $14,000 on Lisa's artistic education, and that she lent her daughter an additional $20,000 which was never repaid.
Replying through her attorney, Miss Kirk denied her mother's claims, but said she had offered to give her mother a substantial part of her earnings for the rest of her mother's life "as a token of gratitude and affection."
The attorney said Mrs. Kirk already is sending her mother a "substantial check" each week.
The State Supreme Court suit was disclosed yesterday when Miss Kirk's attorney filed a motion to have the mother amply certain portions of her petition.

Cop Directs Stork
Washington, (AP) — Policeman Clifton T. Panciera was directing traffic. A woman came up and told him her daughter was about to have a baby. Panciera tried to flag a cab and take her to the hospital. But they were all full. So he gave a boy a dime to telephone for an ambulance. He went to the home and found the baby was due to arrive any minute which it did, with Panciera doing "what they told me in nurse school."
